it is impossible to answer the Asstt. 8 When Mysore was under the British Commission, these pensions, instead of being sanctioned under the provisions of the Mahomedan Law, were being sanctioned to the chief male heirs of the families, as it was perhaps, not thought advisable to divide these small pensions among several claimants and to constitute a number of registered pensioners.

21. The pension in question is already one of a very small amount and its further subdivision is inadvisable. At the same time the benefit of it cannot be denied to the members of the family legitimately entitled to a share of it and the pension is, from its nature, intended for the benefit of the family & not meant for exclusive enjoyment by the holder for the time being. Abdul Aziz was not an uncle of Gaffur Khan in whose name the Stipend now stands but only the latter's father's Cousin. All the same Abdul Aziz's widow has a claim to some share of the Stipend ~~originally~~ sanctioned in the name of Gaffur Khan (the present Stipendiary's grandfather), on the death of Jalaluddin. There are now two claimants to the pension in question namely, Jabbar Khan, the present pensioner's uncle & Abdul Aziz's widow.
